

STERLING MAY

WOODLAND, CALIFORNIA

COMPANY

PROFESSIONAL & EXPERIENCED

Originally a local feed store, Sterling May added Honda products in 1964 and has slowly added equipment and service capabilities ever since. Although no longer owned by the May family, Sterling May remains family owned and operated.

Established in Woodland since 1946

PRODUCTS

“WE SERVICE EVERYTHING WE SELL”

Sterling May offers a wide variety of products and equipment along with hands-on service and expertise. “They’re all products that our guys believe in,” says Director of Advertising and Marketing Zachary Stone. “If we were looking for the same thing, we would purchase these brands as well.” Sterling May prioritizes helping customers learn how to service their products themselves - “our service guys will do small repairs right there on the counter.”

Sterling May is a Stihl Elite dealer - at least one of their service professionals has passed Stihl’s intensive gold-level MasterWrench certification process. Bring any Stihl product bought at Sterling May back into the store for a tune up or repair.

FUTURE

OUR HOME IN WOODLAND, CA

“It’s cool that we can assist these business owners and ranchers grow. It’s a small business feel, a very personal relationship, but at the same time we also service thousands of customers in this region. We have a loyal customer base - our sales team is really good at remembering names and faces.”

Zachary Stone

Director of Advertising and Marketing

Sterling May employs about 15 people at their home on West Main Street. Woodland is well-located to serve a diverse group of agricultural businesses: “Being in Woodland, we get to hear a lot of stuff from different ag people doing different projects in different seasons,” says Stone.
